1. Communication

1.1 SIM Card

How to Get a SIM Card:

The most convenient way is to apply at the airport. After you arrive at Beijing Capital International Airport or Beijing Daxing International Airport, you can get a SIM card directly at a "Beijing Service" center with your passport.

You can also choose to visit an official service center of China Mobile, China Unicom, or China Telecom. All SIM cards require real-name registration and are compatible with all types of phones.

About Mobile Plans:

Mobile plans usually include domestic calls and nationwide data (excluding Hong Kong, Macau, and Taiwan). Additional fees will apply if you exceed the included limits.

Some plans may include "dedicated data" that can only be used for specific apps.

1.2 Communication Software: WeChat

Registering WeChat:

You need a phone number to register. One number can only be used for one account.

WeChat ID:

After registration, a WeChat ID is automatically generated. It's your account's unique identifier. Friends can find and add you using it. You can change your ID once a year (as long as there are no security risks).

Adding Friends:

Scan a QR code or enter a WeChat ID.

2. Mobile Payment

2.1 WeChat

Download & Register

Download WeChat from your app store. Register with your phone number (foreign or domestic) by following the in-app instructions.

Add a Bank Card

Go to Me > Wallet to add a card:

Foreign cards: Mastercard, Visa, JCB, Diners Club, Discover

Chinese cards: UnionPay

(Note: Real-name verification is required to use payment functions. Foreign cards cannot be bound.)

How to Pay

Scan to pay: Tap + in the top right corner of the home screen > Scan > enter password or use face ID.

Show your QR code: Go to Me > Wallet > Payment to display your code.

(Note: Keep your payment password safe.)

WeChat Balance

Money from red packets or transfers goes into your WeChat balance. You can top up, withdraw, or pay with it.

(Note: Balance cannot be used to repay credit cards.)

2.2 Alipay

Download & Register

Download Alipay from your app store. Register with your phone number (foreign or domestic) following the in-app instructions.

(Note: Real-name verification is required. Users without a Chinese ID card need to verify online with a valid ID and bind a bank card.)

Add a Bank Card

Bind a card in the app:

Foreign cards: Mastercard, Visa, JCB, Diners Club, Discover

Chinese cards: UnionPay

(Note: Foreign cards cannot be bound to WeChat Pay, but they can be used in Alipay.)

How to Pay

Scan to pay: Tap Scan on the homepage > scan merchant's QR code > pay with fingerprint or password.

Show your QR code: Tap Pay on the homepage to display your payment code.

(Note: Keep your payment password safe.)

Alipay Balance

Money from transfers goes into your Alipay balance. You can top up, withdraw, or pay with it.

(Note: Balance cannot be used to repay credit cards.)

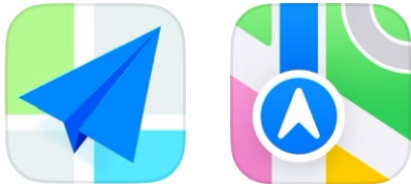

Check balance: Go to Finance > Total Assets on the homepage.

3. Transportation

3.1 Maps

We recommend using AMap Global or Maps for location, route search, and finding nearby bus stops and subway stations.

3.2 Subway

You can use QR codes to travel by subway. Scan the code once when entering the station and once when exiting, totaling two scans.

Subway apps include:

Alipay (must bind a bank card to activate payment service)

Yitongxing (can bind bank cards, Apple Pay, Alipay, WeChat Pay, etc.)

3.3 Bus

You can use QR codes to travel by bus. Generally, you scan the code once when boarding and once when exiting, totaling two scans.

Bus apps include:

Alipay (must bind a Chinese bank card to activate payment service)

Yitongxing (can bind bank cards, Apple Pay, Alipay, WeChat Pay, etc.)

Beijing Yikatong (can bind WeChat Pay, etc.)

3.4 Bicycles and Electric Scooters

In busy Beijing, you can choose shared bikes or electric scooters for transportation. Shared bikes are provided by companies in campuses, subway stations, bus stops, residential areas, commercial areas, and public service areas. They operate on a time-based rental model and are a new eco-friendly sharing economy. You can unlock them by scanning QR codes with WeChat or Alipay and pay online.

3.5 Ride-Hailing Apps

In China, you can hail a taxi on the street or use ride-hailing apps. We recommend using Didi Chuxing or Gaode Taxi apps, or hailing a ride through WeChat or Alipay. Payment can be made via WeChat or Alipay.
